My friend:

Here I come again to notify you that I am today forwarding to you by ordinary mail a copy of the HARVARD ALUMNI BULLETIN which has an interesting article on the exhibition of my DONS during our big celebration.

I want to insist right now that the statement that mine is one of the four great collections of the world is not so. Our common friend, Sr. Sedo, has a much larger collection. I am willing to claim that I have got the best in North America and possibly one of the six best in the world.

Your ever admiring friend,

Carl T. Keller
